

Tunney Outclassed Dempsey All the Way

Greatest Fight Crowd Sees Gene Tunney Win the World's Heavyweight Crown From Jack Dempsey In One Sided Bout—Even Break in Two Rounds—Ex-Marine's Victory a Popular One.

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (AP).—The sceptre of the world's heavyweight championship kingdom that Jack Dempsey had held since 1919 is wielded today by a new monarch—Gene Tunney, idol of the marines and of New York's Greenwich Village.

Through a steady downpour of rain, Tunney of the marines, the man who shouldered a private's musket in the conflict of the ages, fought his way to the peak of pugilistic heights. In a match that completely reversed general expectations, stunning in its one-sidedness, Tunney pounded and flayed the titleholder into semi-helplessness. Dempsey was so badly battered that only fighting instinct kept him on his feet to the final bell.

Tunney won all the way. He was the conqueror, to all intents and purposes, after beating Dempsey to the ropes in the first round and staggering him with a succession of smashing rights to the head. From then to the finish, the challenger dominated the fight, outfighting, outboxing and outgeneralling the titleholder.

Tunney failed to bring his foe down but he battered the heavily favored champion into almost complete submission with such decisiveness that the official announcement of the decision crowning a new king was lost in the uproar that broke loose with the tap of the last gong.

Dempsey was a mere shadow of the fighting machine that has been ranked among the greatest in boxing annals. Against such a cool and calculating opponent as Tunney, it would have taken Dempsey at his best to keep his crown. But such lightning equipment as he could summon for his last stand was pitifully inadequate to combat the determined, resourceful and smashing drive of the former marine, whose speed, tactics and powerful right-hand execution exceeded even the fondest hopes of his followers.

Dempsey a Sorry Figure. Dripping wet and bleeding from a half dozen cuts about his face, his left eye closed and a lump the size of an egg over his right eye, Dempsey was a sorry, even if game, figure in defeat. Three years of idleness had taken their toll. Experience and courage alone were unable to withstand Tunney's flaming ambition, youth and ability.

The greatest fight crowd of all time—the largest, in fact, that ever paid to witness any sporting event anywhere—sat through the soaking downpour to see the passing of the old champion and herald the crowning of the new. Some 132,000 filling the vast arena, paid the record sum of nearly $2,000,000 to see a spectacle that was sensational in its climax, even if not as thrilling as had been expected.

Tunney Very Popular. This unprecedented gathering, a record cross-section of universal fandom, saw the "man of iron nerves" take the place of the "tiger man" as the holder of the most coveted prize in professional sports. Before the battle, Tunney unquestionably held the hopes of the vast majority of the crowd, even if not confidence and when his triumphant march became a certainty, there was a spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm that left no doubt of the challenger's popularity.

It was the completion of a seven year cycle for each of the gladiators. That long ago, in 1919, the fighting power of Dempsey lifted him to the world's championship which he has successfully held for as long as any man in the history of modern prize fighting. Simultaneously, but in a different field, Tunney was laying the foundation of his fighting career overseas with the marines. Tunney was the champion of the American fighting forces and through a struggle that has had its ups and downs, he has reached the main goal.

Great Example of Coolness. In the final analysis, Tunney's stout-hearted determination, his ability to overcome obstacles and his rare coolness were the factors that carried him to the top. He gave a spectacular example of his daring, when without warning and over the strenuous protests of his manager and promoter, Tex Rickard, he flew from his training camp to the scene of the battle yesterday. The idea that he was running and risk on the day of his greatest ring test, or that he was importing a $2,000,000 spectacle, formed no part of Tunney's calculation.

Even Break in Two Rounds. The same coolness with which Tunney stepped from the plane was with him when he climbed through the ropes to fight for the prize that meant fame, glory and riches for him. It carried him through the battle, unafraid of the few moments when Dempsey, feeling something of his old-time power, threatened to turn the tide. Such was Tunney's defense, however, that Dempsey never more than threatened. In only two of the ten rounds—the sixth and seventh—was the champion conceded an even break by the big majority of critics. It was due then more to Tunney's wary tactics than Dempsey's effectiveness.

Dempsey a Ready Target. Dempsey displayed none of his famous dash at the start but whatever aggressive spirit he started out with was crushed before the first round was over. Tunney was sure of himself after the first few exchanges. From then on, he held the upper hand. He side-stepped, blocked or retreated from the champion's vicious rushes. He moved inside of Dempsey's wild swings with lightning speed to deal battering rain drives to the head and body that ripped the titleholder's face and weakened his resistance.

The challenger punched the champion at least four times for every blow he received. In the fourth, sixth and seventh rounds, Dempsey connected with left swings to the jaw that must have hurt Tunney. But the champion never was able to follow up. He kept boring in, weaving and bobbing, but his real flashes of aggressiveness were short-lived and usually ineffective. Never regarded as an able defensive boxer, Dempsey was a ready target for Tunney's jabs and hooks.

Dempsey Greatest Gate Attraction

Defeated Champion Leaves Behind Him an Amazing Career—Slings of Once Murderous Punch Had Been Lost.

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (AP).—Jack Dempsey passed over the pugilistic horizon today, into the grave yard of defeated champions, leaving behind him an amazing ring career and the distinction of being the greatest box office attraction in the history of glove fighting.

No other fighter has drawn the tremendous gates that Dempsey has drawn. He set the record breaking gate, surpassed only by the 132,000 spectators who sat in the rain-swept stadium last night, when he drew $1,600,000 in his memorable battle of a century with Georges Carpentier in Boyle's Thirty Acres three years ago.

Within the seven years that Dempsey held the championship, he has fought in defense of it six times, winning four of these contests with decisive, spectacular knockouts, and gaining a decision over Tommy Gibbons in Shelby, Mont., three years ago. Gibbons managed to stick the 15 round limit because he elected to fight defensively almost from the start and was hanging on, to avoid a knockout blow, for the last three rounds.

Dempsey's cyclonic battle with Luis Angel Firpo stands out as his most sensational engagement. He battered the Argentine to unconsciousness in two rounds of the most furious fighting ever crowded into a heavyweight championship contest. Dempsey himself was all but knocked out in the first round when Firpo drove him through the ropes; yet, he came back with marvelous gameness and turned what appeared to be defeat into victory.

The experts, analyzing last night's battle agreed today that the sting of Dempsey's once murderous punch had been lost as a result of his three years of inactivity. It was the simple story of a once great champion who had gone back too far to meet the challenge of a younger, more vigorous challenger, equally smart in the ring cunning.

Says Dougherty Burned Record

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Tunney that Harry M. Dougherty, attorney general in the Harding cabinet, burned ledger sheets that the government alleges would show that part of an alleged bribe was deposited to his credit in the Midland National Bank, Washington Court-house, Ohio, was given today in the Dougherty-Miller conspiracy case, by Mal S. Dougherty, brother of the defendant Dougherty.

Federation Opens Season's Work

Executive Committee of Federation of Women's Clubs Holds Its First Fall Meeting and Considers Several Matters.

The first fall meeting of the executive committee of The Federation of Women's Clubs was held on Thursday afternoon at the Kingston City Library, the president, Mrs. A. Ray Powley, presiding. Various matters relative to the Federation work for the coming season were considered, the date of the October meeting was announced as being October 16 and a contribution was made to the Florida Relief Fund.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Madden, Mrs. Eastman acted as temporary secretary. Miss Lucy Healy, the treasurer, reported a fair sum to the credit of the general fund and the lecture course fund. One new member was received into the Federation, Mrs. Arthur Cragin.

No Action on Proposed Council. A report was given of the conference held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms in July, at the suggestion of Rear Admiral Higginson. This conference had to do with the forming of a council of representatives of various city organizations with the idea of furthering and expediting any movement for the betterment of Kingston. As no constitution or by-laws, showing just what such an organization would consist of, its plan and scope, was ready, it was impossible for the Federation of Women's Clubs to take any action relative to the matter which was laid on the table for the present.

It was announced that the Monday Club would entertain the Federation at the October meeting on October 16, the place and speaker to be announced later.

The Federation voted to make a contribution of $5 to the Florida Relief fund through the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross.

Educational Film Talk.

Mrs. Van Ingen, of the Twentieth Century Club, announced that the club would give an educational film talk at the Fair Street Reformed Church on the afternoon of October 11. There will be five films shown from the Conservation Commission, the exact topic and hour of the lecture to be announced later. All members of the executive committee were invited to the lecture.

Mrs. Powley asked that the various clubs find out, before the coming open meeting, who among their number were planning to attend the State Federation meeting this fall, in order that the choosing of possible delegates to represent the Federation might be the more easily effected.

ESTELLE HASTENS TO COMFORT HER HUSBAND

Chicago, Sept. 24 (AP).—Estelle Taylor of the movies, who married the world's heavyweight champion, hastened eastward today to comfort the Jack Dempsey she knows as a big, black haired boy in the hour of his great disappointment.

"I don't care two whoops about fame, fights or fortunes," she proclaimed. "So long as his name is Jack Dempsey and he's as crazy about me as I am about him."

"All I want to know is that he's all right."

Planning only to hear the news of the championship battle from her husband, she sought retreat behind closed Pullman doors as the Pennsylvania train sped eastward. But she could not escape the cry of a station newboy at Fort Wayne.

"Extra," the youngster cried. "Tunney beats Dempsey by a decision."

LARGE CROWD ENJOYS ROTARY CLAMBAKE.

A trinity Rotary clambake, held at the Rhinebeck Fair Grounds Thursday evening, was attended by about 100 men from Kingston, Hudson and Poughkeepsie. The bake was complete in every detail and greatly enjoyed by the Rotarians. It was not marred by speech-making and beyond a little singing in which "Sweet Adeline" was included, there was no program other than the meal.

Emagin Teller Safe. In a response to a wire sent to Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore D. Robinson at Washington, D. C., Congressman Pratt was advised Wednesday night that Emagin Teller, son of Myron S. Teller, of this city, was safe in the Naval Air Service at Pensacola, Fla. Mr. Pratt was advised that nothing had befallen any of the personnel of the Naval Air Service at that point.

Safe in Florida. A letter was received from Mrs. Philbert, formerly of Saugerties, by Miss Ethel Schwab of Ulster avenue, that village, stating that she escaped the ravages of the hurricane in Florida where she has resided since she left Saugerties. She also wrote that George A. Griffin, and his daughter, Madeline and Phyllis, formerly of Saugerties, had not been injured by the great catastrophe.

Three Apples Agreed. Washington, Sept. 24 (AP).—Each individual in the United States will have to eat three apples a day to consume this year's domestic apple crop of 42,651,000 barrels, which is 3,000,000 barrels more than last year, the department of agriculture estimated today.

Refugees Leave Stricken Area For the North

Airplanes Carrying Serums Speeding from Northern Points—Large Forces Continue Search for Bodies in the Mass of Wreckage.

Miami, Sept. 24 (AP).—Florida's hurricane stricken lower east side today bent its efforts to prevention of disease and removal of homeless refugees to cities to the northward for shelter and care.

Thousands yesterday bared their arms to the anti-typhoid needle, and stores of incoming serums were being exhausted as fast as received. Reports here were that airplanes with thousands of units of anti-tetanus and typhoid serums were speeding from northern points, and that a coast guard destroyer was rushing to Miami from Charleston, with additional supply. An airplane with 50,000 units of serum was forced down near Marietta, Ga., but the supply will come today.

Meanwhile thousands of refugees were leaving for their former homes in the north and for northern Florida cities, where food, clothing and shelter awaits them. Several thousands passed through Jacksonville yesterday, while other cities north to West Palm Beach sheltered thousands in city buildings and tourist camps.

All women and children are being removed from Hollywood, where the greatest fury of the hurricane was felt. All men have been conscripted for the work of clearing away the mass of tangled wreckage. Several carloads of food supplies received by the Miami American Legion posts have been distributed through the Miami, Hollywood, and Fort Lauderdale areas.

As Red Cross units, public health service details and other relief workers went about their tasks of burying the dead and relieving injured, large forces of city workers continued their search for bodies in the mass of wreckage of buildings and marine debris.

Additional surveys of the sixty-mile coastal areas between West Palm Beach and Miami and of the Lake Okeechobee region, where the hurricane spent its fury, showed 349 known dead, 1,100 injured, and a property loss of approximately $165,000,000.

Local Soldiers To Wear Overalls

Kingston Members of Infantry Regiment Will Join Their Old Companions at White Plains on October 2—Will Wear Overalls in Parade.

A meeting of members of the 51st Pioneer Infantry was held in the armory Thursday evening when plans were discussed regarding the third annual reunion of the regiment at White Plains on October 2. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday evening in the armory at 8 o'clock at which it is hoped that all who are going to attend the reunion will be present.

The Kingston delegation plan on having a large banner in the parade with the inscription "51st Pioneer Infantry, Kingston, N. Y." As the Pioneer were subject to call for almost any kind of duty during the war, one of which was with the pick and shovel, it was decided that on account of the uniform of the members would wear blue denim overalls without jacket and overcap. It is expected that it will be possible to purchase the overalls for a reasonable sum at the next meeting. Any member going with his car is asked to get in touch with Charles Dixon, treasurer of the organization at the armory, stating how many he will take with him, providing he will not be able to attend the meeting Tuesday evening, at which time final plans will be made.

The committee at White Plains have everything planned for what will probably be the best reunion yet held of the 51st. A business session will be held in the morning at the armory commencing at 11 o'clock, and in the afternoon a big parade at 2 o'clock and the feed at 4 o'clock. In the evening a dance has been arranged. The city of White Plains has shown its generosity to the boys of the World War by appropriating the necessary funds to finance the reunion which means that everything will be free, no assessment of members being necessary as has been done other times to cover expenses.

Hudson and Albany are planning on sending a large delegation and with a large number of the members residing in New York city and vicinity, the biggest crowd yet is looked for. For the benefit of any who might wish to stay over, arrangements have been made to take care of such members.

DOMINICK MICHERI HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Dominick Michieri of Albany, driver of the car which caused the death of Joseph Rotunda of Port Ewen and two companions when it struck the abutment of Blodgett's Bridge at Fishkill a week ago, was taken to Rensselaer county jail on Thursday by Under Sheriff Edward Schulze, to face a charge of robbery in the first degree. The Rensselaer authorities had forwarded a warrant for his detention so that the Dutchess county authorities would not hold him on a charge of manslaughter for causing the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. William Lerner of Albany and Rotunda. Michieri is not being held by the Dutchess county authorities of the manslaughter charge because all eye witnesses to the accident are dead and the other witnesses examined by District Attorney Reynolds could not shed sufficient light on the accident to hold the man on the proposed charge. He could, however, be held for reckless driving or negligence but it was deemed more fruitful to turn him over to the upstate authorities on the robbery charge.

William Gifford, a hotel keeper of Schaghticoke, identified Michieri as one of the men who took part in the hold-up in his hotel on July 13. The robbers took about $165 and a considerable amount of jewelry which was later found on the persons of the occupants of the car. Gifford also identified the car as the one in which the bandits were riding.

Cashin Will Deliver Address

John M. Cashin to be Orator of Day at Unveiling of Congressman Pratt's Monument to World War Veterans at Highland Saturday.

Highland, Sept. 24 (Special).—John M. Cashin, Kingston and New York lawyer, former assistant United States attorney and member of Kingston Post, American Legion, will deliver the principal address here tomorrow, at the unveiling of Congressman Harcourt J. Pratt's memorial to World War veterans of the Town of Lloyd.

Kingston Post of the Legion, which, together with the posts of Ellenville, Saugerties, New Paltz and Marlborough was invited to take part in the ceremonies, has advised Philip T. Schantz, of this village, vice-commander of the Ulster County American Legion, that it will probably send a delegation of about 25 members.

All of the visiting veterans, like the local former soldiers, will be honored guests of the day, and following the ceremonies an American flag will be presented to the Ulster County American Legion, which will be presented to them by members of the U. D. and P. E. O. societies.

The program preceded by a short parade, is scheduled to begin at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon, with J. W. Feeter, vice-president of the local Chamber of Commerce, presiding. Mr. Cashin will probably be the only speaker.

The memorial, a three-sided bronze base supporting a 75 foot steel flagpole, was shipped from New York city yesterday and placed on a stone foundation in the lawn of the Methodist Church, here. It will bear 121 names including eight of men who paid the supreme sacrifice. As part of the exercises, an American flag will be run up the pole, to float in the breeze beneath a gilded ball.

License Revoked, He Drove Anyway

Loss of License Did Not Prevent Howard Whitaker From Driving Car—Fined $25 by Judge Shufeldt.

Some time ago Commissioner Harnett of Albany revoked Howard Whitaker's license to operate an automobile, but that fact did not prevent Howard from driving an automobile and he was arrested by Officer Bowser on North Front street on Thursday evening. There were three charges lodged against Howard, that of driving a car without a license, that of driving while his license was revoked, and that of operating a car without the headlights lit.

Howard was first seen driving through Albany avenue with the headlights on his car darkened. He was halted, but neglected to stop and was finally overhauled on North Front street and spent the remainder of the night in the county jail. This morning in police court before Judge Shufeldt, Howard entered a plea of guilty and was fined $25 for driving a car while his license was revoked. No penalty was imposed on the other two charges. Howard, who resides uptown, is married and said he was working in the town of Ulster. He said he had gotten the automobile to get back and forth to work.

Canada and U. S. Will Cooperate

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP).—Plans for close cooperation between Canadian and American officials to suppress rum running between the two countries was detailed to President Coolidge today by William F. Nickle, attorney-general of Ontario, and Richard H. Templeton, United States district attorney at Buffalo.

The two officials have conferred at length to perfect cases against a number of indicted smugglers and they told the president that situation was rapidly clearing.

Mr. Templeton, as chairman of the committee during the Erie canal centennial celebration at Buffalo October 14 invited the president to attend.

G. A. R. Commander-in-Chief

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 24 (AP).—Some of the spirit that manifested itself on the battlefield sixty years ago was revived in the solemn minutes of the G. A. R. command-in-chief, during which Frank A. Walsh, New York, was named commander-in-chief and Stephen, Ohio, was selected as the 1927 meeting place. There was little left of today's program.

Winter Weather Tornado and Rain Hit Northern U.S.

Montana Temperature Six Above Zero—Snowfall in the Dakotas—Iowa Floods Injure Crops—Ohio Suffers from Tornado—Entire Northern Tier Affected.

Chicago, Sept. 24 (AP).—Snow and frost that nipped fields of unripe seed corn in Iowa and Minnesota, rain of two to four inches in Central Illinois, a tornado in northern Ohio and real winter in Montana, North Dakota, Wyoming and the Pacific Northwest added today to September's sorry record of weather vagaries.

At Helena, Mont., the temperature was but six degrees above zero, and the whole northern Rocky mountain region suffered under temperatures lower than any ever recorded there at this season. Snow blanketed most of the area, extending most heavily into Canada from Winnipeg to British Columbia and bringing six inches of snow to northern North Dakota.

Farmers hustled to their fields to save some seed corn in southern Minnesota and northern Iowa, where steady rains have prevented maturing of the crop. Albert Lea, Minn., and Cedar Falls, Iowa, reported visible snow falls. South Dakota also had traces of snow.

At Pierre, S. D., snow began falling heavily at 9 a. m., today. The lowest temperature last night was 24.

At Ottawa, Ill., more than four inches of rain fell yesterday and last night and flood conditions returned at Peru and Bloomington, Ill., with railroad traffic harassed.

Ohio counted a loss of more than $100,000 in Erie and Sandusky counties as the consequence of a tornado and attendant heavy rain. Waterspouts were sighted in Lake Erie, but no casualties were reported.

Ohio Hit by Tornado

Cleveland, Sept. 24 (AP).—Ohio today began checking the damage done yesterday by a tornado in Sandusky and Erie counties, by a storm of cyclonic proportions in Columbian county, by water spouts in Lake Erie off Lorain and Huron and by a steady downpour of rain which inundated field throughout the state.

The total damage was estimated today at between $100,000 and $250,000. No lives were lost in any of the storms, according to early check, but several were injured, some probably fatally.

Northwest Snow-Blanketed

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 24 (AP).—Sharp drops in temperature were forecast for midwest states today as cool breezes swept eastward from the snow-blanketed northwest territory. The advent of fall yesterday was marked with rain and snow in Washington, Montana, Wyoming, North Dakota and Canada. Freezing temperatures were reported generally in the northern tier of states.

Two to four inches of snow fell in the Nicolai Valley of British Columbia and in the prairie provinces of the Dominion heavier snow was reported.

HEAVY RAIN FELT

"WAR CORRESPONDENTS"

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (AP).—The Dempsey-Tunney battle of 1925 ranks with such other "mud and water" sport classics as the Harvard-Yale games of 1923-24. And the final game of the 1925 world series between the Senators and Pirates.

The spectators' plight in the rain that poured down on the sesqui-centennial stadium was mild by comparison with the obstacles facing some 350 or 400 "war correspondents" who dictated or wrote more than 1,000,000 words in the face of unusual difficulties. The rain began falling just before the gong for the main bout and by the time it was half over, telegraph men were sorely pressed to keep their wires in operation. Many wires "died" completely.

Most of the stories emanating from the ring side after the fight were written beneath the ring platform.

REMOVAL OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH PROGRESSING

The work of removing St. John's church and parish house from Wall street is progressing. ### TINY ANIMAL MAY SOLVE MYSTERY OF BIG GLACIER

Scientist Expected to Determine When Grasshopper-Filled Ice Was Laid Down.

Yellowstone Park, Wyo.—The mystery of Grasshopper glacier, just across the Montana state line outside the northeastern corner of Yellowstone park, may be unlocked by the frozen body of a tiny animal no larger than a mouse. The glacier has been famous for many years for the immense number of dead and frozen grasshoppers with which its ice is filled and from which it derives its name. The species of insects are modern, but no one has yet been able to guess when their swarms were overwhelmed with cold and buried in snow that eventually became ice. It might have been hundreds of years ago or it might have been thousands.

Now, for the first time, the body of one of the higher animals has been found among the insects. It is of a shrew, a tiny creature resembling a mouse in general appearance, but not closely related to the mice. It was found by a tourist, R. E. Belton of Livingston, Mont. At the Park museum its mummified remains were examined by Park Naturalist E. J. Sawyer and Vernon Bailey, chief field naturalist of the United States biological survey.

Though quickly identifying the animal as a shrew, the two scientists stated that because of the shriveled condition of the body it would not be possible to determine its exact species without careful dissection and measurements. Once this is determined, however, it may be possible to form some idea of the climatic conditions under which the grasshopper-filled ice was laid down, because the range of animals is strongly influenced by the temperature, moisture and other conditions of their habitat.

Find History Reading in U. S. on Decrease

New York.—History is read less in this country today than it was forty years ago, says Jean Jules Jusserand, who for years was French ambassador to the United States, and John Spencer Bassett, professor of history at Smith college.

M. Jusserand is not dismayed, however. "In the flux and reflux of human tastes and dispositions this is probably but a temporary phase," he says, "and it will be shortened if it would be historians and those who teach them remember the fundamental principles of the genre."

Despite vastly greater opportunity made possible by "a brilliant advance" in teaching in schools and colleges, history is not in a better position with the men and women of this country than ever before, Professor Bassett believes. He asks:

"Since more of them have studied it in school, ought one not to expect that a very large part of our people should be interested in reading history and that a powerful group of historians should be writing many histories to meet this demand?"

"But," he asserts, "no such conditions exist."

Deer Lead in Census of National Forests

Portland, Ore.—A census of game animals in Oregon and Washington compiled for 1925 by the forest service reveals the fact that large numbers of deer, elk, black bear, mountain sheep, antelope and other game animals are to be found in the national forests of these states. Numbers range from 81,000 deer in Oregon and Washington to about 15 grizzly bears in Washington.

There are about 59,000 head of deer in the 14 national forests of Oregon, the forest service statement reads, "and over 22,000 in the eight national forests of Washington."

"Elk rank second with more than 12,000 head, 8,800 being credited to the national forests of Washington and 3,800 to the national forests of Oregon."

"The summarized estimates for all the national forests of the United States show: Deer, 605,000; elk, 72,000; antelope, 7,800; black or brown bear, 68,200; grizzly bear, 5,000; caribou, 140; moose, 6,000; mountain goats, 17,000; mountain sheep, 12,000."

Sisters Go Hungry, but Feed 48 Cats

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Residents of the section where the High sisters live complained to the police of mysterious odors in that vicinity, but efforts to locate the sources were futile for several months. Came the recent hot spell and one last determined effort. Thomas Flanagan, employed by the S. F. C. A., drove to the High sisters' home in a truck and removed from their home 48 pet cats.

The sisters are heartbroken at the loss of the felines, which they had cared for and fed, even depriving themselves of milk and food for the medical army.

Asked where they got so many cats, they said a friend who also had a warm heart for pets, sent them all the strays he found in the alleys.

New Cable Laid

New York.—The Atlantic telegraphic cable has just been completed. It runs from Penzance, England, to New York and is expected to have a carrying capacity of 2,500 letters a minute, eight times as fast as present cables.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, Sept. 23.—Mrs. F. Mittman and daughter, Anna, left on Sunday for Brooklyn where they will join the rest of the family and spend the winter.

The Wagner family and Mrs. Charles Lee who have occupied rooms in the house of Mrs. Anna Backman the past summer left for their home in the city on Sunday.

Mrs. George Holmes has rented rooms to Mr. Van Kleeck on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shurter and sister, Miss Margaret Craig, of Kingston, called on friends in this place on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. E. D. Kortright attended the interment at Ellenville of Josephus Kortright of New York city on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Williams and Miss Madeline Finger and Mrs. William Corpe and daughter, Louise, of Poughkeepsie, called at J. R. Van Wageningen's on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Roach and children, Edward and May, Mrs. Mary Richards and Mrs. F. Young and daughter of Kingston spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Farrell.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Church and little son of Hyde Park visited Mr. and Mrs. Preston Church on Sunday.

High Falls school made an excellent showing at the Ulster County Fair. The kindergarten received first prize on its sewing cards; Dorothy Holcomb and Florence Christians received individual prizes; Grover Smith, Otto Bergen and Gusie Henkin each received first prize for manual training work; Lee Krom received first prize on a sign used for the P. T. A. food sale; Mollie Henkin, second prize in painting; Ethel Grossman and Gertrude Depew, first and second prizes for health posters; Lena Feinberg, first prize for map of New York state; Frances Grossman, first prize for map of Massachusetts; Sylvia Grossman, second prize in writing; Evelyn Brown and Doris Aberly, first and second prizes for personal cash accounts; Ethel Grossman and Evelyn Brown, first and second prizes for work in English; Harold Pekarsky and Seymour Strauss, first and second prizes for score cards used in standard tests in arithmetic.

On Monday Mrs. George Hoffman and son, Leslie, left on a motor trip and will spend some time in Washington and Virginia and other points of interest.

The Parent-Teacher Association of High Falls began the regular meetings for the year on September 12. From the money in the treasury it will buy a completely equipped first-aid kit. The association has many more plans for discussion, covering the best way to use its funds for the benefit of the children. The Parent-Teacher Associations all over the country are working to bring the parents and the schools in complete union, thereby furthering the interest of the child and we hope High Falls at the end of the fiscal year will show encouraging results. This can only be accomplished if all the mothers, fathers and those interested in children's welfare become members and help us in this great cause. There will be a convention of the New York State Congress of parents and teachers at the Pennsylvania Hotel, New York, from October 4 to 7. High Falls will send two delegates, Mrs. Elton Parry and Mrs. Willard Adams. The next meeting, which will take place October 13, the delegates will tell us all about the convention. Besides this, there will be other very interesting features.

Roy Krom and friend of Beacon and Mrs. Harry Krom and friend from New York city called on Mrs. E. D. Kortright on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams entertained Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Williams of Mountains Rest the past Sunday.

DRY BROOK.

A variety shower was tendered Miss Margaret Avery on Tuesday evening. She was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents. The evening was spent with games and dancing and a good time in general.

Miss Hazel Fairbairn assisted Kathryn Stewart with household duties during the absence of her mother.

Mrs. Nelson Graham and son, Kingston, motored to Binghamton one day last week.

Wallace E. Clark, of Cliffside Park, N. J., spent the week end with friends in this vicinity.

The money allotted this town is being used in Belle Ayre with Evan Hall as overseer, in Dry Brook, Supervisor W. E. Avery, and in Beaverkill, John Edwards. It is hoped much needed improvement will be made before winter arrives.

Cauliflower is still bringing a fair price and growers are feeling much better than last year at this time.

The Hotel Stenographer

"O O O O O" yawned the Hotel Stenographer. "I didn't get home till a couple o'clock this morning."

"Dancing?" asked the House Detective.

"No." The girl put her hand over her mouth to hide another yawn. "I went automobile riding with a new sweetie. Closed car so we were not cold."

"Dangerous business riding around with some one you do not know very well," said the House Detective with a shake of his head.

"Kelly," smiled the girl, "are you worried over the danger the man was in or over the danger I ran?"

"Of course the fellow generally expects to kiss you along about midnight, but that doesn't mean he does it. You don't have to make a guy mad when you don't let him kiss you. All you got to do is make him understand you are a perfectly proper girl, and in his simple and childlike vanity he thinks you are all right because he cannot imagine there is anything personal in the refusal. The average chap can't understand any girl not wanting to kiss him, if she is willing to kiss at all."

"A kiss is anything from an insult to a proposal of marriage. Men are so stupid they cannot understand why a girl sometimes wants to knock their block off for kissing her, and does knock it off all over again for failing to kiss her at another time."

"Most men who kiss women ought to be sent away to come back Friday night, anyhow."

"Why Friday night?" asked Kelly.

"Why, it is amiable night everywhere. If I didn't know any more about kissing than the average man, I would get some woman to give me a lesson. Many a kiss has been ruined because the poor boob didn't know how to do it without tugging up the buttons on the back of his coat sleeve in a girl's hair net."

THE WHY OF SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

UPSETTING PINS

IF YOU should accidentally upset a box, a cup or other receptacle containing pins; and if all the pins spill out, be prepared for quarreling with your friends or family, perhaps losing your job. But should the pins not all spill out—should even one pin remain in the receptacle—then you may be assured of continuous paying employment—you need not fear losing your job quarreling. This common superstition is one of several relating to pins, and is as old as glass themselves. In fact it is older, for it is but a variation of the "binding" idea and must have attached itself to whatever our ancestors used for pinning purposes—straw, maybe. Its basis is that combining of facts and ideas which was the precursor of primitive man's reasoning, and which is the vice of many of his descendants to this day—superstitions and delusions.

Pins are said to attract one "same thing" to another "something." You are "pinned" to your job. You spill the pins and, by supernatural magic, you spill the binding force; your job is "unpinned" from you. But if one pin remains unspilled that holds you and your job together. "What is an accident is thought to be connected in fact"—theory of the ancients. The idea that if all the pins are spilled you will have quarrels has a like basis. The words of binding and unity are "unpinned" and, of course, you quarrel.

LETTUCE ENTERS RANKS OF F. F. V.

Now in Fourth Place Among Millionaire Vegetable Crops of U. S.

Washington. — The rise of lettuce to fourth place among the millionaire vegetable crops in the United States, announced by the Department of Agriculture, reads like a Horatio Alger story. Lettuce, with a United States crop worth $4,787,000 in 1925, four times its value in 1919, ranks close to the leaders, potatoes, sweet potatoes and tomatoes.

"There are many other Alger stories in the vegetable world," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society from its headquarters in Washington, D. C.

"Fresh vegetables as a class are successful upstarts in American markets. Not so many years ago it was necessary to distinguish between grocers and green grocers. Omitting the staples, potatoes and sweet potatoes, the business in 17 vegetables came to $236,000,000 in 1925.

"What would a modern dietitian think of the Pilgrims' first Thanksgiving dinner? Although there is no recorded bill of fare, they probably ate: Venison, partridge, turkey, fish, oysters, duck, geese, barley loaves and corn bread, pumpkins, squash and wild grapes.

"Terrible," would be the dietitian's verdict. "Too much protein. Important vitamins neglected. There ought to be four or five vegetables. Where is the salad course?"

"Pioneering. It seems, demands a red-meat diet. While the Pilgrims were living on meat, it was not necessarily the custom in the homeland. By 1000 vegetables were widely used in England and were even more popular on the continent. Man has made some use of herbs since the dawn of history.

The Pharos's Grocery Bill. "On a stone of the Great Pyramid in ancient times was an inscription which showed that even Egyptians liked a dash of statistics now and then and that the laborers liked vegetables. 'For radishes, onions and garlic for the workmen,' the inscription recorded, 'the sum of 1,000 talents.' If we use the Hebrew gold talent mentioned in the Bible as the standard rate of exchange that sum would work out to approximately $51,200,000 for radishes, onions and garlic. The American radish and onion crop for two and a half years could be purchased for the settlement of the pharaoh's green grocery bill.

"America has looked to Europe for vegetables, as well as population, to stock the country. Of 19 vegetables in which the trade is more than a million dollars a year, only six, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, sweet corn, green beans and peppers, are native to the Americas.

"Ancestors of practically all fresh vegetables are living on their native heaths or here. Very few links are missing. A striking illustration of evolution as applied to plants can be given by preparing a dinner using these ancestors of the modern vegetables. Most of them are not difficult to obtain. They grow in American fields and beside American fences. Most everyone is familiar with wild lettuce as a field weed. This Cicerella weed has the same coat-of-arms as crisp, sweet iceberg head lettuce: When Vegetables Were Medicine.

"Gather some Queen Anne's lace for the evolution menu. That white midsummer spray is the flower of the wild carrot. Pull it up and see the laughably thin wedge of its root. The grandfather of all beets has a root about as big as a baby's little finger. Wild onions grow widely in America, reverberations of some imported stock.

"But the bitter nature of the grandparents of our modern vegetables was their original recommendation to the human race. Back in the not-so-long-ago people put great trust in herbs as sovereign remedies for all sorts of ills. Innocent celery, a European ditchweed, for example, was listed in the 'Herbals' as an important drug. The phrase 'cut and dried' is a product of that period. When the custom went out 'herbs' became a 'drug on the market.' But trade in weeds as drugs had brought about their cultivation in gardens where they became larger and less bitter. People who had used common weeds as medicine began to buy them for food and when people insisted on sweeter and bigger weeds the weeds became vegetables. "Bringing up the vegetables to suit public preference is now a task for the expert. A dominant public preference in America is for red vegetables.

"Prejudice may mold and color our vegetables, but, to science and invention go the credit for their present honored position on the American table. Science found that mysterious substances called vitamins were vital to the nourishment of man. Then they found that vegetables were rich in vitamins. Home economics workers broadcast this news. They persuaded the housewives that man could not live by meat and wheat alone. Inventors created the refrigerator car which lengthens the season of most vegetables from one month to twelve. Now a Chicago housewife can market in the Imperial valley, California, for lettuce in February; in May, she turns to Carolina; she buys at home in June; flies upon northern New York in September; and in December her market basket is filled by Florida."

ACCORD. Accord, Sept. 22.—Dubois Baird is building a house on property adjoining Leland Coddington's on the state road. Thirty-seven people from this place went to New York city and Coney Island on the excursion, last Sunday, via N. Y. O. & W. R. R. Mr. and Mrs. Gross B. Schoonmaker and son, Clifford, have been away for several days on an auto trip to Niagara Falls. Myron Coddington of Liberty, N. Y., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Coddington.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

Philadelphia—Girls, the handsome litterateur who can lick everybody else in the world is a bachelor, heart whole and fancy free, so far as known, and, in addition he is worth at least $200,000.

Garden City, N. Y.—The debonaire Sir Walter Hagen, who would be king of the pros for another year, has been playing golf at a pace that indicates he might realize his wish. But Tilden and Jones and Dempsey were favorites, too, when the fall shooting at champions began.

Ardmore, Pa.—If Hagen is beaten it will be up to Queen Glenna Collett to be the only successful late summer defender of a sport throne. The women's national golf tournament starts at Merion Monday.

New York—Maybe the wet summer has had something to do with the toppling of titleholders. If things average up now there should be good weather and some champions should win. In addition summer has ended and about one-third of the country's population will revert to standard time at 2 a. m. Sunday.

Washington—Some good weather would be appreciated by motorists who have paid $257,779.149 for registration and license fees for 19,697,832 vehicles. The official statistics are for the first half of the year, and the fees, of course, greatly increased in recent months, are devoted mainly to good roads.

Chicago—If anybody seeks Charley Schwab's advice as to how to improve his business the reply will be a paraphrase of what a caddy told Charley to improve his golf: "You big slob, keep your eye on the ball."

Philadelphia—American industry is regarded as autocratic and subversive of individual opportunity by William Hapgood, canon.

He said: The god of industry is a god of profit. It is our job to change this god of personality.

Early Autopsy

New York's social register for 1927, in reality the town enrollment for New Amsterdam, as New York then was known, contained the names of 20 "great citizens" and 204 "small citizens" and it was among the latter that the physicians were mentioned. In that same year doctors were called upon to do detective work, since it was requested that they should ask wounded patients how they had received their injuries and by whom. In 1691 Dr. Johannes Kerfbyle, a Hollander, performed an autopsy upon the body of Governor Slaughter, believed to have been poisoned, and this is thought to be the first autopsy performed in this country.—New York Evening Post.

"Salted" Violins

Absurd as it may sound, German manufacturers who are experts in judging the worth of violins have come to look for lime salts in determining the value of an instrument. The exceptional resonance of some of the famous Amati violins, it is stated, is due to the lime salts with which the instruments are stained. The material is imbedded in the pores of the wood, and is believed to be at least partly responsible for the hitherto unexplained secret of why old violins give a remarkable tone.

Famous Mountain System

The Alpine system covers nearly the whole of Switzerland, a great part of northern Italy, several departments of France, and a large part of Austria. The historical passages of the Alps have been those by: Alexander the Great; Julius Caesar, to attack the Helvetians; Hannibal; Napoleon, who crossed the Alps into Russia only to find that the retreating Russians had left Moscow in ruins. The greater part of the French army died in recrossing the Alps into France.

HOW

GLACIERS ARE FORMED BY SNOW UNDER PRESSURE

A glacier is a large mass of snow which under pressure becomes granular, and is finally transformed into dense clear ice. Snow collects above the snowline, and when there is a certain weight the mass moves downward, reaching a point where the melting is not balanced by the snowfall. Here it is termed a glacier, and its form depends on the shape of the ground over which it flows. Those formed in valleys are long and narrow; cliff glaciers are formed in hollows on the edges of snowfields. The rate of movement of a glacier is slow—from six to fifteen inches a day in Alpine glaciers—and the surface and sides move faster than the bottom and center respectively. Movement is shown by the fissures (crevasses), with which a glacier is intersected. The glacier is fed from the snow fields, and ends when the waste of ice is greater than the supply. The material which the glacier collects after it leaves the snow fields is distributed by the streams created by the melting of part of the ice. It is this debris which polishes the rocks along the glacier's course, and the fragments it grinds off are called boulder clay or till. When the glacier reaches the sea, portions break off and form icebergs.

How Rain Is Made to

Quench Earth's Thirst

Everyone who has dried a wet coat in front of a fire has watched the evaporation of the moisture. On a huge scale this process is going on all over the world, the water from lakes, rivers and seas being drawn up into the air by the sun's heat. The air, however, can only hold so much moisture in an invisible form, the amount depending upon the temperature.

As the "drafts" caused by mountains and other irregularities of the earth's surface waft the moisture-laden air into cooler spheres, or as winds move the moisture into cooler spots, so the condition of the air is changed and it can no longer hold all its moisture.

This moisture then condenses into tiny particles of damp, just as steam will condense on a cold plate, and these particles, clinging round the specks of dust always present in the air, gather into clouds which fall as rain because they have grown too heavy to remain suspended in the air.

This rain feeds the springs, which feed the rivers, which feed the lakes and seas, which are in turn once more evaporated. And so the process goes on.

How "Family" Is Grouped

Economists usually base their data on a family that consists of two adults and three minor children. The United States census, however, rates as a family any group of persons, whether related by blood or not, who live together as one household, usually sharing the same table. For census purposes one person living alone is counted as a family, while all the occupants and employees of a hotel or boarding house, or lodging house, if that is their usual place of abode, and all the inmates of an institution, however numerous, are also considered as constituting a single family. It is pointed out that the members of a natural family, blood relations, in many cases do not live together in the same private family, the elder sons and daughters frequently being married and having households and families of their own.

How War May Be Ended

Power plants and electric transmission lines, pulsing with energy in every country in the world, may some day make war impossible. This declaration by Umberto Pomilio, a hydro-electric engineer of note, aroused great interest at the Institute of Politics in Williamstown, Mass. He said the sources of energy, such as coal and oil and water power, are common causes of belligerency between nations and are at the seat of many "international political questions" which are ordinarily the assigned causes of wars. He looks forward to the day when the rapid spread of electric power, "the modern slave of man," will be so wide that no nation will need to envy that which another nation has.

How to Cleanse Glass

The best method to remove stains from glass is to use kitchen cleanser or some similar article on a piece of cloth, rubbing the glass until the stains disappear. This material is very abrasive, but it is not thought it would scratch the glass very deeply—not enough, at least, so that it would be noticed. After setting on work of the stain off as possible in this way, use the following mixture for a polish. One ounce pulverized whiting, one ounce alcohol and one ounce liquid ammonia in a pint of water. Apply this mixture with a soft cloth and allow it to dry on the glass. After it has dried rub it with a polishing motion until the glass is clear.

Water inside the cells of the plant freezes and burns the cells, causing the plant to wither and die.

Plants, Like Mankind, Respond to Affection

A petty story is told of a man who, in a trance, found himself in another sphere, standing by a bank covered with exquisite violets, the scent of which filled the air. Stopping to admire the flowers, he saw each dainty bloom lift its tiny head in acknowledgment of his delight in their beauty.

Sir Jagadis Bose, the Indian scientist, calls plants anchored animals, and has proved beyond doubt that some plants are actually more sensitive than human beings. He has shown that they are actually affected by the approach of certain people.

This is a fact of intense interest to many flower lovers who have long suspected that something of the sort was the case. They have noticed that flowers in adjoining gardens or allotments, on similar soil and apparently similarly treated, do not grow alike, but that in one garden they bloom more luxuriantly than in the other. They have noticed also that certain people are far more successful than others in growing what may be called shy flowers.

It would appear that the personality of the gardener has much to do with the success of the flower garden—that, in fact, there are people whom flowers love, just as there are those who have a natural power with animals. Often a comparatively frail woman can manage a horse which strong men have attempted to hold in vain, and we all know cases of apparently insignificant people who are adored by all dogs.

Golfers' Hard Luck

Golfers never will be satisfied with their game. A fellow made a world's record—drove a ball that rang in a fire alarm. A wild hook went out of bounds, broke the glass of a box, hit the lever and brought engines on the run. "The longest shot of my career," boasted the golfer. "If it only had gone straight!"

New Shrine Not Ready Until 1927

St. Anne de Beaupre, Burned in 1922, Being Replaced by New Structure, but Severity of Quebec Winters Makes Construction Progress Slow.

St. Anne de Beaupre, Que., Sept. 24 (AP).—Organized pilgrimages to the Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, discontinued during the war, and due to be resumed next year, will find the new shrine well on the way to completion. The new structure, replacing the one destroyed by fire on March 23, 1922, when it is finished in approximately two years, is expected to be one of the most beautiful religious buildings of the kind in North America.

The severity of Quebec winters has considerably delayed work on the shrine, but the priests in charge hope that it will be completed by the summer after next. Work has been rushed this summer and will be again during the warm months of 1927, but during the winters, when it is impossible to work on the building, the employees are cutting stone and doing other incidental jobs.

The destruction of the old shrine has not decreased the number of pilgrims who come to the place annually, according to the priests. A temporary church has been erected, and although not as imposing as the burned one was, hundreds of Catholics may be seen there each day saying their prayers and praying for the intercession of St. Anne in having favors granted. The cordial support of Catholics in both Canada and the United States has assisted greatly in pushing work on the new church, those in charge have announced.

The seating capacity of the new shrine is expected to be around 2,000, while space for 5,000 more standing will be provided in the ambulatories.

The new basilica will have an upper church and a crypt of five naves. The church will be 325 feet long on the outside and 285 feet long on the inside. It will be 200 feet wide at the transept, and 127 feet at the naves. The central nave will be 45 feet, and the four others will be 18 feet each.

The church will be 245 feet high to the top of the towers, 128 feet to the apex of the portal, and 118 feet to the roof. In the interior the central nave will be 85 feet, while the inner side naves will be 45 feet, and the outer side naves 18 feet.

The crypt will be 200 feet long by 200 feet wide, and 17 feet in height. The five naves of the shrine will have seven bays, and the sanctuary five. There will be 26 altars, 25 confessionals, 11 entrance doors, 84 columns and pilasters, 1,500 ornamental little columns, 115 buttresses, 125 statues and nearly 350 stained glass windows.

Precious Stones Distributed All Over Earth.

Precious stones come from most out-of-the-way places, says a jeweler in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"The diamond comes from India, Brazil and South Africa. Although the diamond is nearly always water-clear in color, there are blue, green and yellow stones. As distinct from a white topaz, which is always quite water-clear in color, a yellow diamond has just a faint yellow tinge in it. The ancient Greeks knew the stone, and because it could not be cut and carved in those days like other stones on account of its hardness they gave it the name of Adamas.

"The ruby, which is next in hardness and was used so lavishly in the crown jewels and regalia of the king of Burma, now in the Indian section of the Victoria and Albert museum, South Kensington, comes from Burma, Ceylon, Mandalay, Afghanistan and Siam. There are also ruby mines in Australia.

"The sapphire, which is distinct from the ruby proper, is a clear, bright red with a bluish tinge. The choicest rubies are those the color of pigeon's blood, which come from Burma. The Indian ruby is lighter in color than those from other places. Weight for weight the perfect ruby is of much higher value than the diamond, but the stone is so full of flaws that it cannot be cut to the same advantage as the diamond.

"The emerald, which is of such a beautiful blue, comes from Burma, Ceylon, Borneo and Australia. It is also found in Europe in the Rhine valley. The star sapphire, which is rather lighter in color, comes from Brazil, as does also the white sapphire.

"The emerald is the most valuable of the 'berry' group, and comes from Colombia, in South America, India, New South Wales, Serbia and parts of Egypt. The earliest emeralds we know of were those that came from Cleopatra's mines in Egypt. The finest are those from Colombia where the wonderful emeralds which so dazzled the Spaniards on their conquest of Mexico were afterward found to have come; they have more flash and are of a richer and deeper color than those from other countries.

"The aquamarine comes from the Ural mountains in Russia and also from Brazil; in color it ranges from a pale sea green to a bluish tinge. The morganite is more commonly known as the pink 'berry' and comes from Madagascar; at its finest it is of a pinky mauve color. It was given the name of 'morganite' on the occasion of the late J. P. Morgan giving to Harvard the largest known specimen of it, which is now in the mineral gallery of the Museum of Natural History, South Kensington."

British Public Bailed at Sanitary Methods

The meeting of the congress of the Royal Sanitary Institute recalls the strong opposition which sanitary reformers once encountered. The Times in 1884 rejoiced that Chadwick had received a pension which would enable him to leave dirt and disease alone; "Asclepius and Chloroform" in the form of Mr. Chadwick and Dr. Southwood Smith, have been depicted, and we prefer to take our chance of cholera and the rest than to be bailed into health."

Another complaint was that their activities had established a perpetual Saturday night, and Master John Bull was scolded and rubbed and scrubbed until the sun ran into his eyes, and his teeth chattered, and his feet clattered themselves with worry and pain.

What would the writer of this report say if he could see the public health service today? According to his standard by this time Master John Bull ought to have been washed altogether out of existence and poured away with the soap-suds—Martha Stewart would.

Alaska's Hospital Ship

Needed medical attention for Alaska natives living in isolated communities is offered this summer by a well-equipped hospital ship. Medical service hitherto has been available at only a few points, but the hospital ship, which is equipped for emergency treatment and in charge of a competent physician, will carry on its mission of healing among scattered groups of natives living in remote places along the Yukon and its tributaries from the Canadian border to St. Michael during the summer months in which navigation is possible. Participation of the service is assured by a recent congressional appropriation, and it will become an important feature of work of the Alaska Division of the Bureau of Education, Interior Department.

TEMPLES REVEAL BIBLE HISTORY

Excavations in Philistine City Confirm Old Testament Records.

Philadelphia.—They put his armor in the house of their gods and fastened his head in the temple of Dagon. The tragedy of Saul, as related in the Book of Chronicles and also in Samuel, has received still further light from the excavations of the joint expedition of the museum of the University of Pennsylvania and the British Museum, working at the ancient Philistine stronghold of Beth-Shan.

According to a report just received from Alan Rowe, field director of the expedition, two pagan temples unearthed originally were built by hiring Asiatic soldiers of Israel's ancient Egyptian oppressors and dedicated to Egyptian deities modified by the mercenaries' Semite background. Mr. Rowe states that in all four Canaanite temples were found at Beth-Shan.

Two Built by Rameses II. They were all erected during a period when Palestine was a conquered province of Egypt and before the coming of the children of Israel. Two of them were built by the pharaoh of the oppression, Rameses II, and one during the short reign of his father, Seti I. During the decline of the Nineteenth dynasty in Egypt, when a succession of weak monarchs held the throne, the Israelites broke away from their bondage, as related in Exodus, and during the same period the Philistines recovered their ancient city from the hands of the weakened garrison of non-Egyptian hired soldiers. They did not demolish the temples, however, but simply identified the already half Semitized deities in them with their own Baal, whom they called Dagon, and with Ashtoreth, the Semite Venus. This god and goddess were still worshiped in their two respective temples when the Israelite invasion into the land occurred, and the long wars for the possession of the promised land began.

David Destroys Temples. After David had succeeded to the throne he avenged his former lord by heavily defeating the Philistines, capturing Beth-Shan and demolishing the temples. This occurred somewhere about 1,000 B. C.

"David surely must have established a sanctuary or a tabernacle to the God of Israel at Beth-Shan," says Mr. Rowe. "If there was such a sanctuary, the only place large enough for it was either on the ruins of the Dagon temple or in the reconstructed Ashtoreth temple. A new floor which the excavators found laid in the former building over the debris of destruction was perhaps his work."

Popularity of Prince Boosts Archery in Japan

Tokyo.—Popularity of Prince Sumi, fourth son of the emperor, is credited with having revived archery as a sport in Japan.

Since the ten-year-old boy was designated champion archer of his class in the peers' school his instructors say he has an excellent chance of becoming the most proficient archer in the empire.

More than 700 years ago archery was the principal military art. Relics of the old Japanese warriors are bows so long and strong that the present-day Japanese marvels at the brawn of his forefathers.

After the Japanese-Russian war judo and wrestling claimed attention and more lately baseball has helped make archery forgotten. About a year ago an effort to revive the sport of the bow and arrow uncovered the fact that there were still many amateur archers in Japan. Now it is taught in most of the schools.

Premier Wakatsuki practices daily with the bow and Marchioness Nishishima is the leader of women archers.

Magic Healing Virtues Laid to Jaffa Orange

Jaffa, Palestine.—The delicious taste and unique fragrance of the Jaffa orange has caused it to become more and more popular in Europe, but the belief that it is possessed of almost magic virtues as a preventive against infectious diseases is held to be mainly responsible for its ever-growing vogue.

The home of citrus fruit in southern Asia, from the lower provinces of China to the slopes of the Himalaya mountains. Some 6,000 years ago travelers brought the "best golden apples" from India to Egypt in lower Mesopotamia, and toward the sixth century the Jews returning from the Babylonian captivity imported them to Palestine.

Man Goes to Jail to Retain $50 of His Vacation Fund

New York.—Paul Marcellini is spending the last ten days of his vacation in jail in New York city, but he is saving $50.

Convicted of spending, Paul was given the choice of paying a $50 fine or going to jail for ten days.

Paul counted out the $50 and then deliberately put it back into his pocket.

"I've got ten days left of my vacation," he said. "I'll just save this $50."

BUILDINGS ON ODD-SIZED LOTS ARE QUEERLY SHAPED

New York Has Many Curious Structures Which Were Not Planned as Freaks.

New York.—Some of the most curiously shaped buildings in the world are located in New York without one of them being planned as a freak.

This condition arises from their having been planned according to streets which originally were laid along twisting roads or Indian trails.

The Flatiron building is the best known, with its knife edge facing north while the southern exposure is widened in the space between converging streets. Broadway has a similarly shaped building every few blocks up to Times square.

Broadway bisects Manhattan island from the southeast corner to the northwest. The remainder of the main streets are laid out in rectangular squares, which causes the odd-shaped lots to appear at each intersection.

Times square itself is formed by a junction of this sort, and is anything but square, being rather more the shape of a diamond, as Broadway crosses Seventh avenue there from the east and then turns north.

An apartment house located at Riverside drive and One Hundred and Sixteenth street is built inside of a long curve of the latter street, which makes the building a triangle with one side "ballooned" outward. The building across One Hundred and Sixteenth street, a companion to this one, is built with the curve inward. If the street could be removed and the two buildings joined they would dovetail.

The new buildings, in conforming with the building laws, also have created a skyline which in the case of each building is beautiful but seldom noticed from the street.

The buildings above the sixteenth or twentieth stories are pyramided to allow as much light as possible on the street, but the streets are so narrow that no proper perspective can be obtained to view the upper portions.

One of the few buildings not so hidden is the American Radiator building, south of the Public library grounds. This tower is done in orange and black stone, each insert of the pyramid marked so that when the tower is illuminated at night it has the appearance of a great pile of coals.

Have Whales Two Wives? Scientists Seek Answer

Hull, England.—One of the missions of the specially constructed steamer William Scoresby, fitted out at Hull for the British crown agent, is to see whether whales have two wives. In a laboratory in the ship scientists will arrange their experiment to discover whether whales are polygamous, the birth rate of whales, their expectation of life, how far they travel from home and their diet. Then the answers will be put together with a view to taking steps to stop the diminution of the number of whales and the threatened extinction of the species.

In order to obtain the information disks are provided. From a special contrivance in the ship a small dart will be fired at every whale seen. This dart will enter painlessly into the blubber, bearing a silver-plated identification disk which will be attached to the dart before firing.

Fishermen catching these whales will be asked to forward the disks with full particulars to the crown agent. In this way many data about the habits of whales will be obtained which it is hoped will be of scientific and eventually of commercial value. The expedition is expected to last about two and a half years. Captain Scott's old ship, the Discovery, will also take part in the expedition.

Krupp Has Made Last Gun, Says Heir to Big Business

Los Angeles, Calif.—Germany's famous Krupp works at Essen probably will never manufacture arms again, in the opinion of Baron G. Frederick E. von Krupp, only son of the present head of the plant. The young nobleman, who recently completed his second year at Harvard, said his father was educating him eventually to take charge of the works. When he assumes control, he added, "we won't make guns, for I don't believe in war." The plant now manufactures steel.

The Simplest and Most Efficient 4 Wheel Brakes

New Nash Features

7-bearing crankshaft motor—world's smoothest type—powers all new Nash models.

New-type crankcase "breather" which prevents crankcase dilution.

New double beam headlights with steering wheel control.

Rich new body finish colors.

All enclosed bodies are of the expensive wood frame body construction employed by finest American and European motor cars.

And a long list of added new improvements.

Standard Equipment—No Extra Cost

Another vital Nash mechanical superiority is the special Nash 4-wheel brake system—the safest, simplest and most efficient type known to the industry.

Fully equalized to right and left, front and rear, these brakes banish entirely the dangerous swerving characteristic of partially equalized brakes.

They are of unique simplicity in design, having fewer points requiring lubrication than any other mechanical brake system.

Their instant, powerful, but velvety ease-of pressure is scientifically distributed, 60% to the rear and 40% to the front.

The sixteen new Nash models now on display range in price from $865 to $2090 f. o. b. factory.

Odd but Proper Names

Don't get, and get again, around the curious names of Walla Walla, but they are, in reality, tropical imports used respectively for banana processing and gum cultivation. Jerusalem is the basic component of chewing gum, while the mysterious sounding shrub, from Yotokahm, turns out to be a humble bay leaf, used in this country for flavor, but used in its original habitat as food.

Agriculture in Alaska

Visitors to Alaska are reminded to use well-tended gardens furnishing the subsistence with fresh vegetables. The popular misconception of Alaska is a picture of snow, ice and terrible storms. Such is far from the case in the valley of the Kupuk river where from May to September, growing vegetables are cultivated by the white men. The days are long and crops mature quickly.

Character in Business

Character in playing more and more importance in business, both from the side of the management and the side of the employee. ### America Called Center of All Human Progress

New York.—America has become the gravity center of the world for human progress, the spokesman for a visiting delegation of Rumanian statesmen, educators and students told Mayor Walker, explaining the delegation's motives in making a tour of the country.

The delegation of thirty, in this country for four weeks as guests of the Carnegie Endowment Foundation for International Peace, was extended the freedom of the city. Among the visitors were a number of young Rumanian women students clad in their picturesque peasant costumes.

Prof. Nicola Scuriea of the University of Jassy, their spokesman, declared since the World War the United States has displaced Europe as the leader in civilization and that the Rumanian people want to adopt the American ideals of "freedom, of peace and of love for mankind."

Love "Poaching" Punished

In the mountain districts of Italian South Tyrol a medieval taboo still prevails which forbids a young man of one village to flirt with a girl of another. The offender usually meets with a severe beating some night on a country road, and on several occasions has paid for his temerity with his life, says the Turin Stampa.

Recently a young peasant, Frans Bawercher, of the town of Gals, was found to be paying court to a girl of the village of Ottens. He awoke from a state of unconsciousness one night on a lonely road, bleeding from severe wounds. He told the police, who refused to respect the ancient tradition of the country and arrested the assailants.

Provinces "of Age"

The two Canadian provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan attained their majority September 1. Each of these provinces is twenty-one years old. Prior to 1905 the area embraced by Alberta and Saskatchewan had the status of territories administered largely by the Canadian federal government. At that earlier date the combined population of Alberta and Saskatchewan was approximately 400,000. Now, according to a census taken by investigators employed by the Canadian Pacific railway, the combined population of those two provinces is 1,500,000. Since their birth as provinces the annual agricultural production for Alberta and Saskatchewan has increased from $40,000,000 to $780,000,000.

Brief Rest Was Fatal

When Gen. John Morgan, with his raiders, stopped to rest for an hour and a half at Chester, Ohio, during his Civil war foray, he committed an error that brought disaster. After resting, the raiders proceeded to Portland, reaching there just after dark. It was unusually foggy and this prevented the raiders from finding the ford leading to Burlington Island. Had they reached Portland an hour earlier, they could have crossed the Ohio river to safety that night, says a writer in the Columbus Dispatch.

Morgan brought General Fitch's troops up the river and General Robinson from the rear and Morgan's defeat.

Life of Human Hair

The length of life of the hair varies with the age, sex, character of hair and individual peculiarity. Each hair has its determined length of life, and this is not the same for every hair of the same sort. The rate of growth, especially in young women, is from 2 to 6 millimeters, or about 1/16 to 1/8 inch during each 30 days interval. After reaching the skin, or about 1/16 to 1/8 inch a month. When it reaches a length of 10 to 14 inches its growth is reduced one-half, and later toward the end of its normal life its increase is hardly perceptible.

Calla Nightcap Necessary

K. J. James, Calla, the well-known surgeon who died recently in London declared that when nightcaps were worn men kept their hair to an all age. A nightcap, he said, was as necessary to a man as a nightgown.

Greeks Raise Fund Of $10,000 Here

A meeting attended by 53 Greeks natives of Scara, Greece, was held at Forsyth Park, on Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of taking action to raise a fund for building of water works and improving roads in their native city. J. Carlates of New Rochelle, N. Y., presided, and G. Pappas of New York city was secretary and treasurer. New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts and other states were represented by members of the Scara Association of Native Sons living in Albany, Troy, Schenectady, Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Hudson, Newburgh, Newark, N. J., Jersey City, Brooklyn and other cities. The matter was discussed and at the close of the meeting over $10,000 had been subscribed to the fund and subscriptions will be solicited of natives of Scara residing in the United States and many more thousands of dollars will be contributed for the improvement fund.

Library's Great Value

Not Fully Realized

Our libraries can be made one of the most potent instruments of a creative citizenship, which aims at humanizing that grim industrialism, the grip of which tightens every day. Our policy must be to teach the community to find in the library a central laboratory of sweetness and light—a radiating power house of the spiritual and intellectual antidotes to the mechanistic materialism with which life today is saturated and by which it is degraded. We must insist that the library represents the literature of power, as distinct from the literature of knowledge and of information. Just as most men and women cannot understand maps without careful instruction, so most readers do not know really how to read. We have taught our people to decipher print; we have not yet taught them how to read. The universities tried to do that—but even if our ideals are realized the percentage of our congested democracy that will pass through a university must always be comparatively small. The library can do what the university cannot. Let us convince the public that it pays to read the literature of power, and it will pay to have that literature in abundance. —Principal Grant Robertson in a recent address.

Common Phrase Once

Had Distinct Meaning

"A name to conjure with" is a phrase more used than understood, as conjuring was not always the term for stage or parlor tricks of the present day. Originally conjuring stood for the art of the magician—the conjurer of the Dark ages being really the same personage as the wizard. His conjuring really meant a very solemn compact or agreement, the word itself being taken from the Latin for an oath. Part of his ritual consisted in the then popular belief that he could summon up Satan or some other spirit by the saying of some "word of power, such a word being generally mysterious-sounding, like 'abracadabra.' Occasionally the name of some departed great one, such as Solomon, was used. This name would then be known as sufficiently mighty to "conjure with," spirits hearing it being bound to obey. Today, we no longer believe in magic, and the magician of mystery and dread has turned into the harmless gentleman who produces rabbits from his hat at children's parties; but the old phrase still remains, and we refer to this and that great man as having a "name to conjure with."

The Motor Shovel

In unloading ore or coal from the holds of vessels on the Great Lakes there is always a certain amount of material in corners and between hatches that cannot be reached by the unloading buckets. The superintendent of one railway has designed a motor-driven scraper shovel that moves such material much faster than it can be moved by hand.

The machine carries a shovel that can be raised and dumped automatically, but whenever possible the ore or coal is pushed underneath the hatch openings, where the unloading buckets haul it out of the ship. The power-scraper shovel is said to do the work of 12 to 40 shovellers, according to the type of boat, and to save from one to five hours' time in the unloading process.

Chinese Kitchens

Except for the fact that gas is the fuel instead of grass and wood, as in China, Chinese kitchens in American chop suey restaurants are closely fashioned after the pattern of the used stores in the Orient. There the stove is always broken before a family moves to a new abode. Here the kitchen range is built of tin, but still on the model of the old. The great shallow pans, the kettles and the oil pans, however, are strictly Chinese, and strange jars of water closets the corners of a water plant imported from China, and other jars filled with slices of bamboo shoots are such in evidence among Chinese kitchens here as in the East.

Roman Roads Expansion

The old Roman method of road building is not employed today because the expense would be too great. The Appian way was built of solid masonry, sometimes several feet thick, and recent rough estimates have shown that it would cost about $20,000 per mile to reproduce such highways under present costs and conditions.

Channel fever has a strange counterpart in what is now called "channel fever"—a set of distressing symptoms sometimes strike passengers on a ship, after a rough ocean voyage, a landlocked harbor where there is very smooth water. In many important counts, women are deserting the old "sanitary pad."

There is a new way. A way that gives better protection. A way, too, that solves the old problem and embarrassment of disposal.

It is called "KOTEX." Ends the century of the old-time sanitary pad. Five times as absorbent! And discards—ends ALL fear of odors.

As easily disposed of as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without shame.

Costs only a few cents. Eight in better-class women employ it. Discards old ways an unnecessary risk.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

For an afternoon tea cake try this tasty little one which you will like.

Orange Cakes.
—Cream one third of a cupful of butter, add one-fourth of a cupful of sugar cream well and add four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, the grated rind of an orange and two cupfuls of flour. Pat out thin into small cakes prick with a fork and bake in a quick oven. Immediately after taking from the oven, open with a fork and insert a lump of butter. Serve at once.

Maple Cookies.—Take one cupful of granulated sugar, one cupful of maple sugar, one cupful of butter, two well beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls of water and flour to make a stiff dough. Cut into balls, roll in powdered sugar and bake in a hot oven.

Cheese Balls.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of grated cheese, add one tablespoonful of melted butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour and when well blended add three tablespoonfuls of milk, a dash of pepper and salt and stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Form into balls, roll in cracker crumbs and fry in deep fat. Drain on brown paper. Serve with lettuce salad.

Cheese Salad.—Dissolve a tablespoonful of gelatin in four tablespoonfuls of water, add half a pound of grated cheese and a pint of whipped cream, season well with salt and paprika, with a few dashes of cayenne. Pour into a wet mold and allow to become firm. Turn out and cut into slices, serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing or with any desired dressing.

Peach Sherbet.—Put a pound of sugar and a quart of water on to boil for twenty minutes; let cool, then add one and one-half cupfuls of peach pulp, the strained juice of an orange and the juice of half a lemon. Freeze. Half of the water may be used and a pint of rich milk, making a richer ice.

For a mint sherbet use a bunch of mint cooked in the water and add the other ingredients and thin cream; freeze.

Wearing Gloves Like

Frocks, Paris Fashion

Harmonizing the gloves with the costume is a new style note recently originated in Paris. Until now, observes a fashion correspondent, gloves have either matched the tan or gray hosiery or they have been black or white or a combination of black and white.

Women travelers returning from Paris have given an inkling as to what's what in glove-dom in Paris. Their gloves match exactly the shade of their suits or frocks, being such shades as luscious green red, hots de rose or royal blue. Often they are trimmed in contrasting embroidery or stitchery. The turn-down cuff type is the one invariably stressed by smart women both abroad and in America and although we may not turn directly to bright colored gloves we are beginning to get away from solid blond effects by combining contrasting colored stitchery on blond gloves. Thus a bi-que colored suede glove may be stitched in plaid effect on the turn-down cuff in yellow, green and rose.

One smart young buyer returning from Paris wore royal blue glazed kid gloves stitched in gray with a royal blue taffeta dress trimmed in gray. Another woman wore persimmon red suede gloves with a red sports hat and tan topcoat. Several hots de rose gloves in both suede and heavy silk have been worn by women returning from abroad, in every case they matched the frock exactly.

Black gloves are very smart when worn with the black costume. They are far more important abroad, however, than in America. Black and white combinations are again becoming popular with smart women. White glazed kid with gold or silver cuffs are among the novelties. A dressy type of glove recently shown in New York is made of white kid with a wrist-fitting cuff studded in white amber and green stones to simulate a wide jeweled bracelet.

The trend in women's gloves this fall will be to fancy types. Cuffs are invariably fancy, being embroidered with colors, trimmed with velvet appliques or faced with plaided taffeta.

Black and Pink Liked
as Color Combination

Few frocks give more general satisfaction than those made of black satin. As a rule they are simple enough for almost any occasion and at the same time are smart enough for the most important daytime social event.

It is quite noticeable that with few exceptions the new black frocks show touches of color. Occasionally the color is vivid, as in two extremely smart models which feature tones of lacquer red and green. As a general thing, however, the color introduced is more apt to be a delicate shade. Pastel tones frequently are combined with black, and a pale tone of beige is often used successfully.

One of the smartest color combinations is seen in a dress of black crepe back satin combined with pale pink crepe de chine.

Shawls That Have Only
Three Sides Fringed

Metallic bordered shawls having three sides fringed are now being shown as fall items. In either gold or silver, two or more brilliant colors are combined. Instead of the colors being worked in the weave of the fabric, they are used in solid form as foliage or geometric figures. The fringe is made up of the same colorings with metallic strands predominating. With these shawls are shown matching scarves. They are long, plainly finished, have a variety, without fringes or decoration of any kind, and are worn knotted simply at the side of the neck.

Bright Spot in Sky

The sun and moon are the only stars in the sky that are visible to the naked eye. The sun is a star, and the moon is a satellite of the earth. The sun is a star, and the moon is a satellite of the earth. The sun is a star, and the moon is a satellite of the earth.

On Fashions

Velvet is the leading fabric, with Crepe Satin and other silks, including Mince, following—The Velvet Gown is More Often Colored Than Black.

If one were called upon to give the leading fabric of the season—just one—not a list of the several "best sellers"—it would seem wisest to cite velvet. Next, perhaps one might hesitate between crepe satins and other flat crepes even between cloths of various kinds such as broadcloth. Given only one choice it had best be velvet. It is contrary to past performances, most elastic in its use, being applicable to everything from the smart two-piece sports dress to the sumptuous evening one with a matching wrap.

Usually black velvet is the one most approved—certainly it is still above reproach—but it is to be a season of wonderfully tinted velvets, from the deep wine shades on through royal purples and the gamut of greens and blues to a warm lovely mauve—caramels and such good things coming to mind in viewing them.

THE SURFACE LINE
ACCENTED IN RHINESTONES.

A Formal Dress of Black Velvet Sponsors a Low Cut V-Shaped Decollete Outlined by a Narrow Fold of Flesh Color Chiffon. The Bodice Blouses, and the Skirt Introduces a Tunic, the Back Affecting Shorter Lines Than the Foundation. The Eagle Motif is Carried Out in Embroidery and Rhinestones.

Velvet dresses have an altogether delightful habit of having wide arm-holed sleeves of a contrasting material, the type of dresses called the troubadour silhouette by Martial et Armand. The rank and file of women have learned to classify these as dolman sleeves. They are at the moment the outstanding features for fall and in contrasting material give elegance and distinction to a gown that might otherwise be commonplace.

Velvet gowns and princess lines have always appeared to come and go together, but this season it is the badge of distinction to have one's velvet gown cut on rather bloused lines, and even to hark back to the days of the surplice waistline, always a kindly one to large women. (Copyright 1926, in Metropolitan Newspaper Service, New York.)

Dispute Over Book of Job

The authorship and date of the Book of Job are controversial matters, a great many students of Scripture being of the opinion that the book dates back to the patriarchal age, making Job contemporary with Abraham, possibly being David, the Edomite, alluded to in Genesis, tenth chapter, twenty-ninth verse. Others ascribe the book to Moses, and still others to Solomon. It is said that the animal mentioned in the book would be better known in the American mountains than in the plains of Palestine, while the locusts or grasshoppers were a pest of Egypt. The spirit of the book, however, is doubtless that of the Hebrew race combining faith, endurance and tenacity of purpose, which are characteristics of the race today.—Washington Star.

French Legion of Honor

The Legion d'Honneur in France is an order of merit, both military and civil. As a general rule, it is conferred on those who have rendered services to the country, either in war or in peace. The President of the republic is grand master. In ordinary circumstances, twenty years of military service or civil service is necessary for eligibility to the rank of chevalier and promotion can be made only after twelve years in a lower rank. Extraordinary service entitles to any rank. The word "chevalier" means knight.

LAST NIGHT on THE RADIO

Any fan not interested in ring battles was out of luck last night. From 7:30 until 10:30 nothing else was available. Reception was best from WJZ and WGY, with WJZ slightly the better because it was free from blooping. For a time, during the preliminary bouts, there was a queer echo effect that made some effort and very close attention necessary in order to understand, but for the big event this condition cleared and reception was good. Slight static developed during the third round, but not enough to be annoying.

But after the fight was over what a fight there was in the air among the bloopers who sought vainly for DX reception which simply was not there! Bloopers never learn that using excess power gets them nothing and kills reception for everyone near them. On a night when the air is dead no amount of power will bring in stations, but the blooper always tries it. This is why blooping is at its height when reception is difficult to attain.

The document in question is signed by such historical figures as Roderic, Montrose, Cassilis, Lothian, Wemyss, Yester, Boyd, Elcho, Lindsay, and Melville. The Linlithgowshire copy of the Covenant remained in the hands of the descendants of the laird of Dundas until 1824 when the document was purchased by Messrs. Baxendale from the late Sir Charles Dundas. The document, which is written on old parchment, is in a wonderful state of preservation. The owner has presented this framed copy to St. Giles' cathedral, and it has been accepted by the board of management.

ROAD BUILDING

PLAN TO RELIEVE ROAD CONGESTION

Although many plans for relieving the congestion on the highways of the nation have been offered in recent years, road officials now realize that the only feasible plan is the widening of the roads.

With this thought in mind some notable advances in this direction have been taken during the past year. The historic Boston Post road and its sister highway, the Albany Post road have recently been widened to permit passage of four lanes of traffic instead of two. Between Detroit and Pontiac, Mich., there is being completed this year a superhighway consisting of two strips of pavement, each 44 feet wide with a 40-foot strip between for interurban car tracks. Much highway widening is being contemplated in and around Detroit, plans for one route being for a superhighway 204 feet wide, including space for sidewalks and a rapid-transit right-of-way in the center. Chicago has completed plans and ready to begin work on a comprehensive wide highway system in the city and its environs.

It was but a few years ago that the ideal section of the Lincoln highway was built at Dyer, Ind. This strip is 40 feet wide and many scoffed at the plan at that time as being of unnecessary width. Since then it has been conclusively proved that even 40-foot pavements are not wide enough to carry the traffic near congested centers of population.

The building of these wide roads which must inevitably take place, will mean an enormous initial investment, but authorities say that it will really be cheaper in the end. Roads congested with tied-up traffic as they are now, mean an expense for which the public must pay. Farmers are delayed getting into town. Salesmen are delayed getting from one place to another. It takes longer to make truck deliveries. And in the case of recreation, narrow roads and congestion take all the joy out of motoring. Building wide roads overcomes these handicaps, speeds up business, quickens deliveries, lowers costs, increases the pleasures of motoring and becomes a dividend-paying investment and not an expense.

Six Grade Crossings on Lincoln Way Are to Go

Officials of the Union Pacific Railroad company have reached an agreement with the Nebraska state highway department which will permit the straightening of the Lincoln highway between Columbus and Grand Island in such a way as to eliminate six of the seven grade crossings now on the transcontinental route between the two cities.

Four of the crossings which are to be eliminated are in Platte county and two in Merrick county. The one remaining grade crossing over the Union Pacific tracks will be in Columbus and later a viaduct or underpass will probably have to be constructed.

The three-year program outlined by the Lincoln Highway association of Nebraska, headed by George F. Woltz, state consul for the national association, includes the construction of viaducts or underpasses on the Lincoln way and the Union Pacific railroad in Fremont, Grand Island and North Platte, as well as Columbus. It is understood that this program has the enthusiastic backing of State Engineer Roy Cochran. Work on the straightening of the Lincoln highway was started this spring.

Ohio Repair Program Is to Cost Immense Amount

Of upwards of $25,000,000 to be spent this year on Ohio's state highways, approximately $8,000,000 will be expended for maintenance and repair, including resurfacing and widening, which brings forcibly to the minds of the highway engineers that there is no such thing as a permanent road. Eternal vigilance is the price of a good highway, road engineers have found, and no matter what the type, constant attention and repeated repairs are necessary. Continued freezing and thawing during the past winter have placed an extraordinary strain on the highway pavements, according to State Highway Director Schlesinger, and much work will be required before many of the highways will be in first-class condition for summer travel. Many of the pavements must be patched and many cracks must be filled.

Of the $14,000,000 or $15,000,000 to be spent on new construction this year, part of the money will come from the state, part from the federal government and part from the counties.

Driving on Bad Roads

Whether in winter or summer, the safest rule for running on any narrow road or street where the shoulders or gutters are likely to be filled with snow or mud is to keep the rear wheels in the center of the thoroughfare, steering the front wheels off the road where necessary. Any observing motorist has noticed that stranded cars invariably are found with the rear wheels, or one of them, off the road. It also is a good plan to keep the lights on at night.
